

Abstracts and authors' info

State and legal development of modern Russia: challenges and prospects

V.V. Smirnov

Head of the Department of Law and State, Institute of State and Law of the Russian Academy of Sciences, Candidate of Legal Sciences, Associate Professor, Honored Lawyer of the Russian Federation (e-mail: wvsmirnov@gmail.com).

The article considers some of the theoretical as well as methodological and substantive aspects of the state and legal development of modern Russia. Such concepts as political development, political reform, political modernization, political (democratic) transit were compared and analyzed.

—o State and legal development, political reform, political modernization, political (democratic) transit.

Political and legal development of post-Soviet Russia

V.V. Lapaeva

Chief Research Fellow, Institute of State and Law of the Russian Academy of Sciences, Doctor of Legal Sciences (e-mail: lapaeva07@mail.ru).

The article analyzes the prospects of political and legal modernization of post-Soviet Russia. In the context of such a formulation of the problem objective factors impeding the formation of real political competition as a prerequisite of democratic and legal development are analyzed as a prerequisite for democratic and legal development.

—o Political and legal development, the parliamentary system, legislation, political competition, privatization, the legitimation of property.

The role of state and law in civil society

O.V. Orlova

Senior Research Fellow, Institute of State and Law of the Russian Academy of Sciences, Candidate of Legal Sciences, Associate Professor (e-mail: ovorlova@mail-from.ru).

The article covers the role of law and state in civil society; the role of law in civil society as a measure of freedom and justice.

→ Law state, civil society, law, constitution, personality.

Legal policy of the Russian Federation in the sphere of gender relations

S.V. Polenina

Chief Research Fellow, Institute of State and Law of the Russian Academy of Sciences, Doctor of Legal Sciences, Professor (e-mail: s.polenina@mail.ru).

The article analyses the implementation in Russia of the final recommendations of the Committee on the elimination of discrimination against women (CEDAW) from July 2010.

The Committee considers the absence until now of the past for a long time and supported the first reading of the women community project of the Federal Law "On ensuring equal rights and equal opportunities for men and women" as the obvious disadvantage and gaps in gender policy of Russia.

→ Gender, gender policy, women's rights, discrimination, democratization of law-making, patriarchy.

The court in the modern state: the traditional values and current issues in justice administration

N.N. Efremova

Leading Research Fellow, Institute of State and Law of the Russian Academy of Sciences, Candidate of Legal Sciences, Professor (e-mail: nadnike@mail.ru).

Modern state founded on the values of law and democracy, focuses on forming a model of the court, the relevant international legal standards and legal tasks of the state.

The Russian court is formally based on the progressive principles of judicial organization and procedure does not fully correspond to this model, and first of all, because the number of traditional universal values, formally defining the nature of the court in a democratic legal state in Russia does not yet have sufficient collateral.

→ Judicial power, court of justice, international standards of justice, access to justice, human rights.

On the perception and cognition of legal phenomena. the formation of a civilizational approach in the study of law

M.A. Supataev

Leading Research Fellow, Institute of State and Law of the Russian Academy of Sciences, Candidate of Legal Sciences (e-mail: supataev@list.ru)

The article deals with the state of the contemporary science of law: hermeneutic and analytical approaches in the study of law and also possibilities and features of civilizational and formational approaches. Cross-cultural (intercivilizational) comparative studies of law provide a vast field for such analysis.

→ Hermeneutics, an analytical approach, cross-cultural (intercivilizational) studies of law, formational and civilizational approaches.

Legal state as a theoretical model of state-legal modernization

E.V. Gabrelyan

Research Fellow, Institute of State and Law of the Russian Academy of Sciences, Candidate of Legal Sciences (e-mail: gabrel@mail.ru).

The article shows that the state as an organization of public government institutions of modernity and its theoretical interpretation is fundamentally different from the organization demodernism of the state and its theoretical interpretation. This difference was manifested, primarily, in the explanation of the role, participation and the importance of the individual in the process of state formation and as a result in the change of approach to the functional purpose of the state.

→ The state, rule of law, modernization, modernism, the contractual theory of the state, natural law.

Concepts of law and the modern state-legal development

E.G. Lukyanova

Senior Research Fellow, Institute of State and Law of the Russian Academy of Sciences, Candidate of Legal Sciences, Associate Professor (e-mail: lukelena@mail.ru).

The article attempts to show the role of the social doctrine of, for example, of the doctrine of the law, in the development of state and society; communication of the doctrines of law and socio-political practice. It shows critical and constructivist potential of formal and substantive conceptions of the law, developed in the Russian law.

— Theory of law, the concept and features of the law, the formal theory of law, material theory of law, state and legal development.

Ethno-social and legal aspects of the situation in northern Caucasus

V.K. Egorov

Leading Research Fellow, Institute of State and Law of the Russian Academy of Sciences, Candidate of Legal Sciences (e-mail: 4571240@mail.ru).

M.-R.A. Ibragimov

Leading Research Fellow, Institute of History, Archeology and Ethnography, Dagestan Scientific Center, Russian Academy of Sciences, Candidate of Historical Sciences (e-mail: ibragimovm@mail.ru).

This paper analyzes the ethno-political and legal aspects of the situation in the Northern Caucasus. Considers land conflict potential problems and internal migrations, their relationship with the global trends, the relationship of people in the ethnically mixed regions. Disclosed relationship resettlement, land transformation with the reproduction of ethnic and cultural identity of communities and peoples to an example of Dagestan. The urgency of ethnic quotas in a multiethnic Northern Caucasus region of Russia and the formation of Russian national identity.

— North Caucasus, Dagestan, migration, land issues, conflicts, ethnic quotas, identity, community, inter-ethnic relations.

Copyright in modern Russia: problems of terminology

V.V. Lebed (Efremova)

Senior Research Fellow, Institute of State and Law of the Russian Academy of Sciences, Candidate of Legal Sciences (e-mail: vefremova@dk.ru).

This article presents the research results of the change in terminology copyright in modern Russia. It analyzes and summarizes experience of legal regulation of copyright relations of importance to evaluate and identify patterns and trends of current copyright law and doctrine in the Russian Federation.

—o Copyright, copyright agreements, the work, the author of the work.

The Influence of European Integration processes on the budget regulation of Member-States of the EU (constitutional aspects)

N.S. Krylova

Leading Research Fellow, Institute of State and Law of the Russian Academy of Sciences, Doctor of Legal Sciences (e-mail: comparative_law@igpran.ru)

The author examines the process of constitutionalization of the principles and rules of budget law in the European Union. The main attention is paid to the reorganization of the financial and budgetary mechanism, the implementation of the «golden rule of budgetary discipline» into the national legal systems of Member-states.

—o Budget, finances, budgetary stability, financial sovereignty, European Union.

Federal Budget: Legal form, adoption procedure

A.A. Grishkovets

Senior Research Fellow of the Institute of State and Law of the Russian Academy of Sciences, Doctor of Legal Sciences (e-mail: grishkovecz65@mail.ru)

The article focuses on Legal aspects of federal budget and its adoption process. The participants' interrelations are analyzed in the context of budgetary procedures.

—o Budget, budget system, budget process, taxes, Government of Russian Federation, State Duma.